THE TOKEN

It is a mere wild rosebud,
    Quite sallow now, and dry,
Yet there's something wondrous in it,
    Some gleams of days gone by,
Dear sights and sounds that are to me
The very moons of memory,
And stir my heart's blood far below
Its short-lived waves of joy and woe.

Lips must fade and roses wither,
    All sweet times be o'er;
They only smile, and, murmuring
        "Thither!"
    Stay with us no more:
And yet ofttimes a look or smile,
Forgotten in a kiss's while,
Years after from the dark will start,
And flash across the trembling heart.

Thou hast given me many roses,
    But never one, like this,
O'erfloods both sense and spirit
    With such a deep, wild bliss;
We must have instincts that glean up
Sparse drops of this life in the cup,
Whose taste shall give us all that we
Can prove of immortality.

Earth's stablest things are shadows,
    And, in the life to come,
Haply some chance-saved trifle
    May tell of this old home:
As now sometimes we seem to find,
In a dark crevice of the mind,
Some relic, which, long pondered o'er,
Hints faintly at a life before.

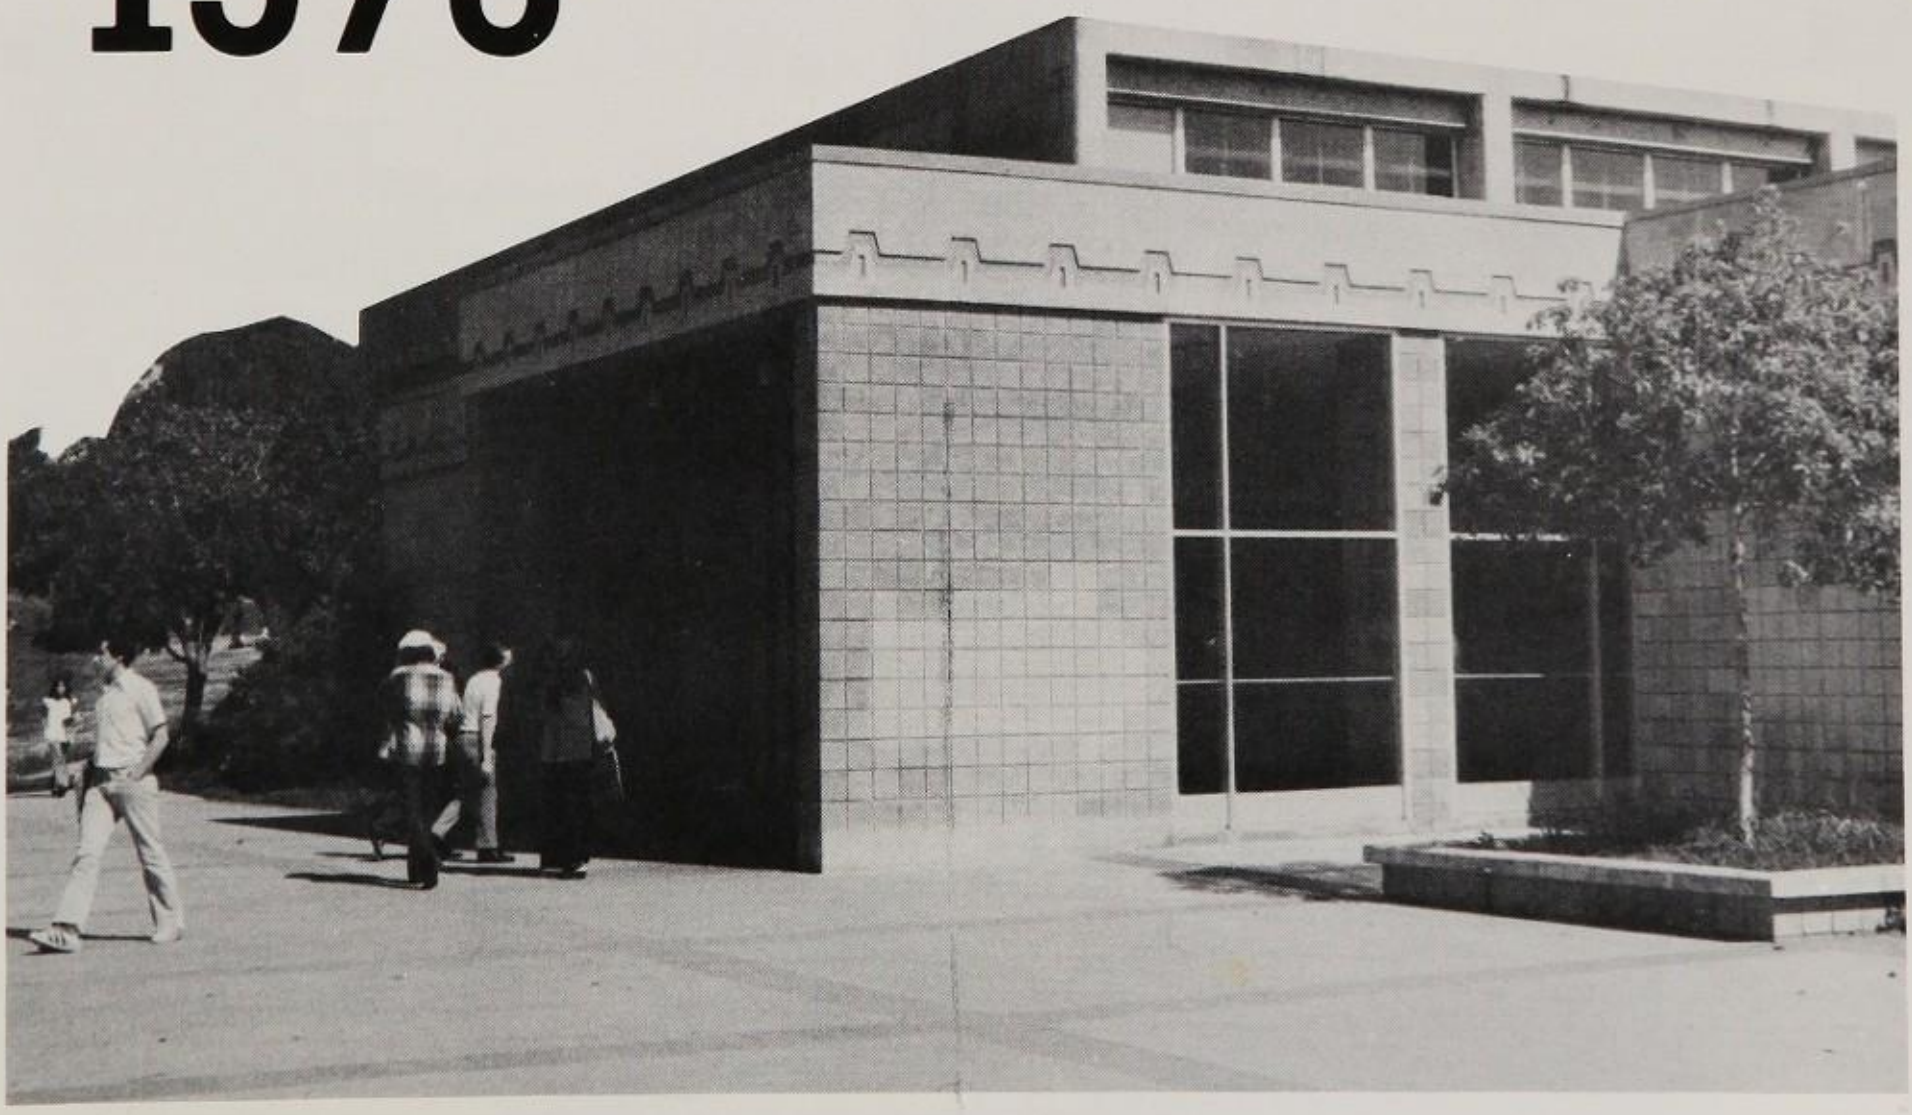
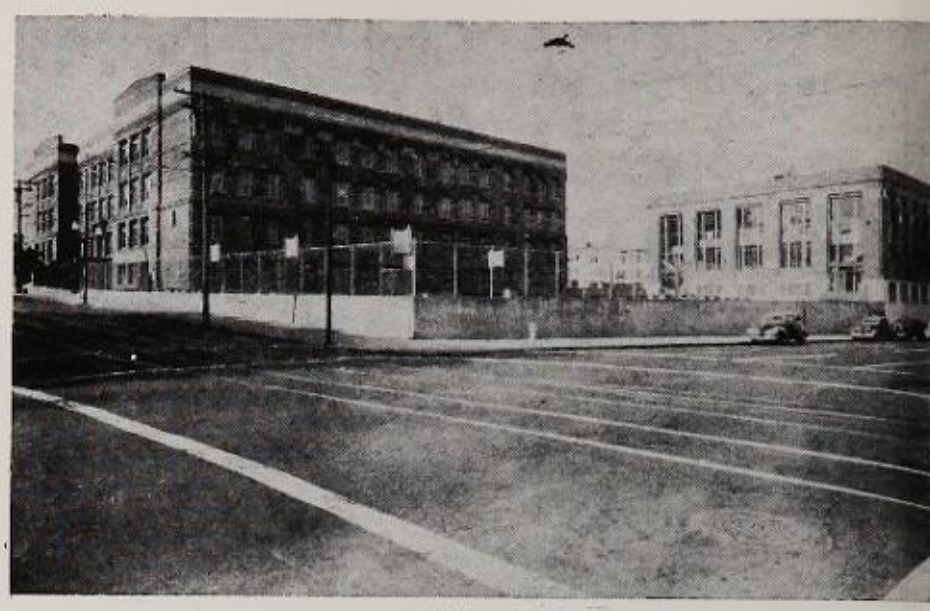
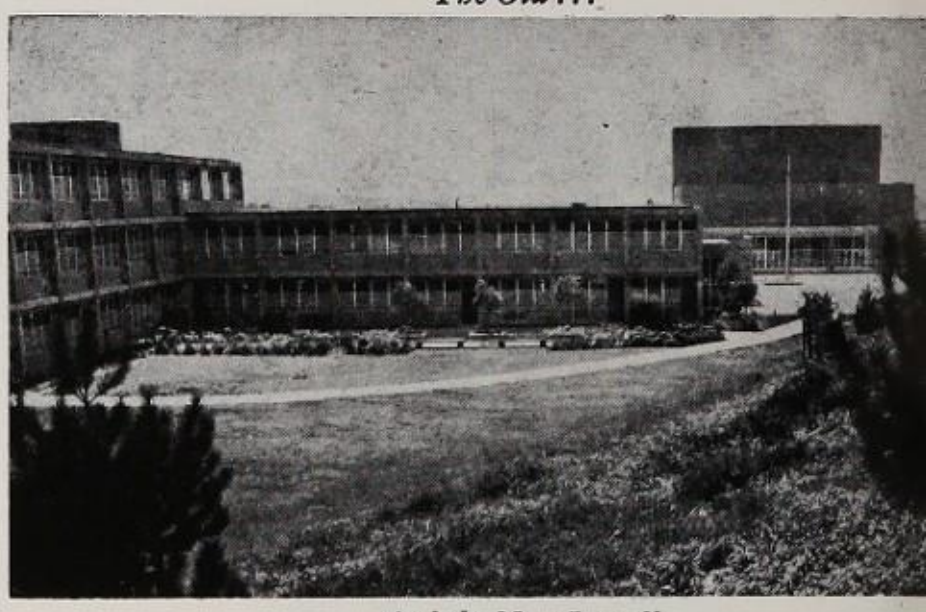
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA



Present Lowell Building Celebrated Ten-Year Anniversary April 27



The Old . . .



. . . And the New Lowell

"Lowell Forever"

"There's something in a name, as any graduate of Lowell High School will tell you. Usually a high school alumnus quickly forgets that loyalty, transferring all of his affection to his college or university. Not so in the case of Lowell. Lowell has become a thing of spirit; Lowell stands for scholarship, for leadership, for academic achievement. We are glad the Board of Education realized all this and will preserve the hallowed Lowell name when the high school is moved to the shores of Lake Merced."
Editorial, San Francisco Examiner, Dec. 19, 1959

"Lowell" still exists at the corner of Hayes & Ashbury streets. No, I'm not referring to the old Lowell Building (now the site of John Adams Adult School)...I mean the Lowell Pharmacy at 1901 Hayes Street. This historic pharmacy is identified only by a red sign with "Lowell" printed in white block lettering.

The Lowell Pharmacy was almost a "second home" to the scores of students and faculty who frequented the establishment. Mr. Mehdy, who has operated the Pharmacy since 1921, not only sold school supplies and operated the "Lowell Fountain", he also was a "second counselor" to many Lowell students.

Mr. Milton, a Lowell allumnus from the "old building", still stops of Mr. Mehdy's store once in a while during driver's training. "Mr. Mehdy was Lowell's first para-professional counselor," said Mr. Milton, remembering days past, "He has convinced many students of the folly of cutting."

Mr. Mehdy's soda Fountain, which was located at the rear of his pharmacy, was the cleanest of the four "creameries" (that's 60-ish talk for "ice-cream parlors") on Hayes Street near Lowell. Though Mr. Mehdy would not tolerate roughousing or littering in his store, he was "like a kind grandfather" to those who treated his shop with respect. Other "creameries" often had trouble with Lowell students--one had so much trouble, it had to close during school hours.

Mr. Mehdy's pharmacy has changed little since he opened it in 1933. The largest change, the removal of the eight-stool soda fountain, occurred one week after the last class graduated from the "old Lowell" in June of 1962. The original 1933 indoor phone booth still stands next to a "your weight here" scale of the same era. Glass counters, dark wood paneling, and very modest florescent lighting complete the effect of sending one back in time.

Mr. Mehdy's large neighborhood prescription business was one reason he did not move near the "new" Lowell in 1962. Mr. Mehdy stopped prescriptions last year, but he still sells non-prescription drugs, school supplies, magazines, and other drug-store items.

Mr. Mehdy had "a wonderful time with Lowell."

California Scholarship Federation

The California Scholarship Federation again provided their successful tutoring service. The first major CSF activity was their picnic on Angel Island, followed by an architectural field trip sponsored by the American Institute of Architects. Some of the places visited were Presidio Heights, the Bank of America Building, the Pyramid and St. Mary's Church.

Spring activities included the regional conference in San Jose, a visit to Lowell by forty CSF'ers from Red Bluff High School, and the CSF picnic.

Big Sisters

The Lowell Big Sisters was joined this year by the Big Brothers, an organization making its reappearance after many years. Along with the Big Sisters, the Big Brothers welcomed the incoming Sophomores, giving them tours of the school, and helping to make them feel more at ease in their new surroundings. The Big Sisters held a party for the new students in the fall, and the traditional Big Sister initiation party at the end of the spring term.

Big Brothers

ROTC

The highlight of the ROTC is the 91st Drill Competition, in the Civic Auditorium, where Lowell took third place city-wide, though performing a feat never before seen in a San Francisco High School competition--the order quintuple. Five spins in the air--the feat--was accomplished by both Cadet Major Suen and Cadet Second Lieutenant Hunter at the same time. Lowell lost the title "Honor School"--held two years consecutively to Balboa.

GAA

Lowell's Girls' Block L had a busy and successful year due to their fund raising projects. The GBL sold carnations and roses on special occassions and held candy and bake sales. They ended the term with their annual banquet at Ghirardelli Square.

GAA, whose purpose is to promote better sportsmanship, started the semester with an enrollment of 650 girls. The GAA sponsored a candy sale during Easter. The highlight of the year was the Awards Assembly, held on May 24, 1973.

Publicity Manager: Barb Schulz
Clerk of awards: Geri Jordan

Japanese Club

The Japanese Club started the school year with a newcomers' picnic in Oakland. To raise money for ice skating and bowling parties, the club had two successful food sales and a car wash. They also sponsored a basketball game against the Filipino Club and a dance.

President: Mariko Yanagihara
Vice Presidents: Akiko Kasuya
Sharon Ishii
Secretaries: Naomi Murai

Political Activity Club

The Political Activity Club is a non-partisan group whose aim is to coordinate the political activities of students at Lowell. In October, the club, along with the social science department sponsored a candidates day, at which Roger Boas, William Mailliard, Ron Pelosi, Milton Marks and representatives from the presidential campaigns appeared.

President: Richard Carlton
Members: Wendy Blakeman, Abby Caul, Aaron Chong, Terry Jones, Barbara Lanier, Ellyn Lazarus, Joan Maggi, Marion Mosheim, John Roos, Katie Schwarz, Nicky Trasvina

Red Cross Youth

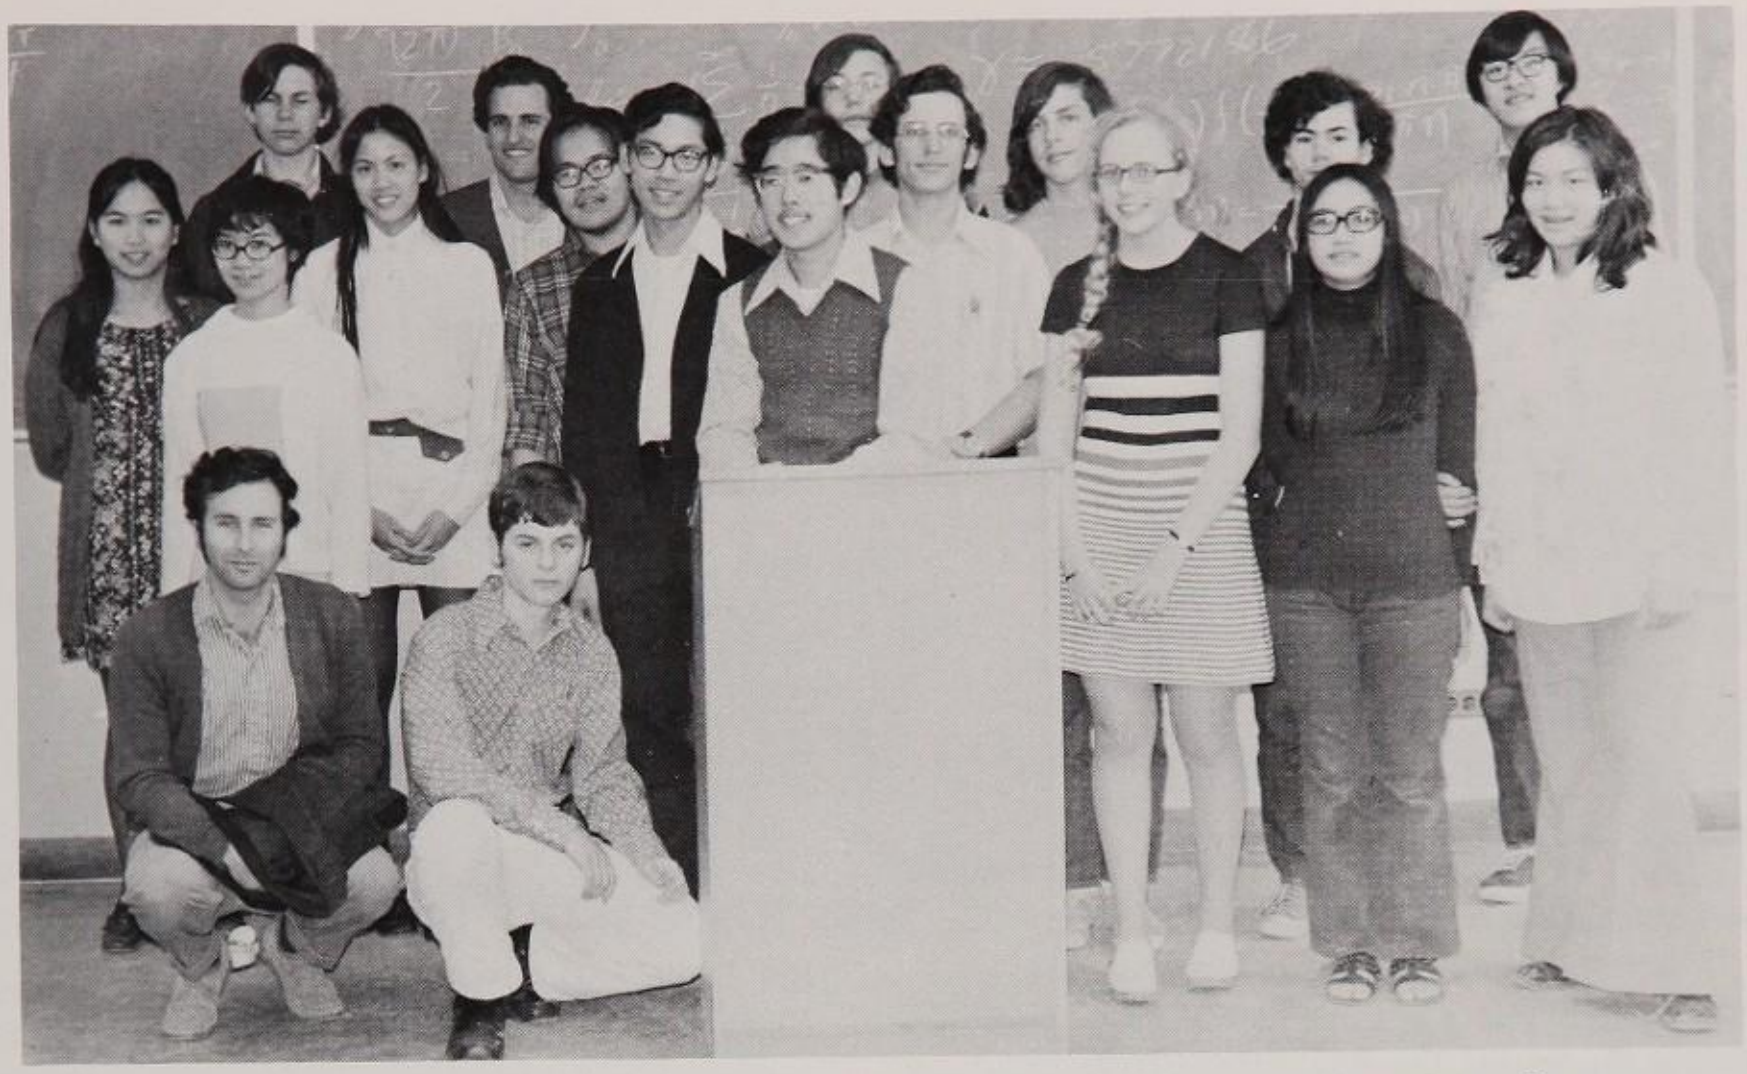
The Red Cross Youth of Lowell raised over $125 in their fund raising project, "Spread the Bread", with the money being delivered to St. Anthony's Dining Room. The Christmas project was "Sunshine for People Indoors", and a few sick Lowellites were visited during the vacation. Others that benefitted from the Red Cross were patients at Letterman Hospital. The group also met during the vacation at the U. C. Medical Center to help decorate Christmas trees.

German Club

The German Club started the semester by attending German-American Day in Golden Gate Park. The club also attended the Oktoberfest and the Winterfest at California Hall.

In December, the club sang German Christmas carols at Letterman Hospital, and ended the semester with a party for graduating seniors.

Math Club



The Lowell Math Club spends most of its time concentrating on a presentation by Mr. Paul Abad or some other person on some math problem he or she has been working on. The club also spends much of its time preparing for the many math contests they participate in throughout the year.

American Field Service

The American Field Service is a worldwide organization which works to promote understanding and peace through an interchange of living and learning experiences.

Students selected to take part in the program are placed with host families in various parts of the world. More than 2, 600 students from over 60 different nations spend a year living and learning in the United States via the AFS program.

The American Field Service Summer Program enables selected juniors to spend six to ten weeks during the summer living with a family abroad.

This year's AFS student at Lowell was Wendy Page from Australia.

Book-to Book Center

The Lowell Book-to-Book Center, headed by Mrs. Cohen, is in its fourth year. A PTA sponsored organization, its purpose is to raise funds for the school. With the money they raised, the Book-to-Book Center has bought tapes, a drafting table for the math department, and books for the different departments. The Book-to-Book also serves as an application center for the college board tests.

Chess Club

The enthusiasm for chess at Lowell can be substantiated by the fact that the Lowell Chess Club attracted the largest crowd at Co-Curricular Day.

The members of the club play for fun, to try to increase their rating, or to participate in tournaments. This year, the Chess Team extended their perfect record to five consecutive years, after beating Mission, Galileo and S.I.

Sponsor: Mr. Paul Abad

Team Members: Peter Lew, Craig Montel, David Gee, Kenneth Gee, Clement Chou, Phil Freihafner, Ned Phipps.

Model United Nations

The Model United Nations meets annually in Berkeley where students from California high schools learn about international relations and the U.N. by representing a country.

Lowell's first delegation in ten years was presented with the Republic of Maldives. The ambassadors were head delegate Sanford Kingsley, Katie Allende, Vivian Altmann, Arevik Bagdassari, Denise Bergez, Terry Goss, Wendy Page, David Torney, Yulanda Williams, Anne Zelinsky, and sponsor Mrs. Elenor Cross.

Filipino Club

The aims of the Filipino Club of Lowell High is to unite and promote harmonious relationships among Filipino students, and to expand the Filipino culture so it will be known to the school and the community.

In the fall, the club held a party for the incoming sophomores, began a tagalog mini-course, held bowling and Christmas parties, went caroling at Letterman Hospital, and danced in Co-Curricular Day and at Lakeshore School. In the spring, they held a dance, an Easter party, and a picnic to Santa Cruz. To raise money throughout the year, the club had bake, carnation and candy sales, along with a carwash.

Sponsor: Mrs. Rosemary Dacanay

Fall Officers: President, Stephanie Padua, Vice-President, Wilma De Leon, Secretary, Rhodora Maliglig, Treasurer, Edmund Jabson, Publicity Manager, George Zorilla, Photographers, Bonifacio Cacanidin, Cyrian Tabuena, Sergeant at Arms, Lawerence Lucas.

Spring Officers: President, Ann Cabagungan, Vice President, Zenaida Unisa, Secretary, Lynda Belale, Treasurer, George Zorilla, Publicity Manager, Jullie Herrera, Photographer, Cyrian Tabuena, Sergeant at Arms, Philonie Ducusin, Joe Del Rosario

Chinese Club

For the second consecutive year, the Chinese Club has flooded the school with candy apples, to raise money for their ice skating, bowling and Christmas parties. The club has also sponsored films and lectures on China. Among its community projects, the Lowell Chinese Club helped in giving a Thanksgiving Dinner for the Elderly and a Christmas toy drive with the Chinatown Youth Council.

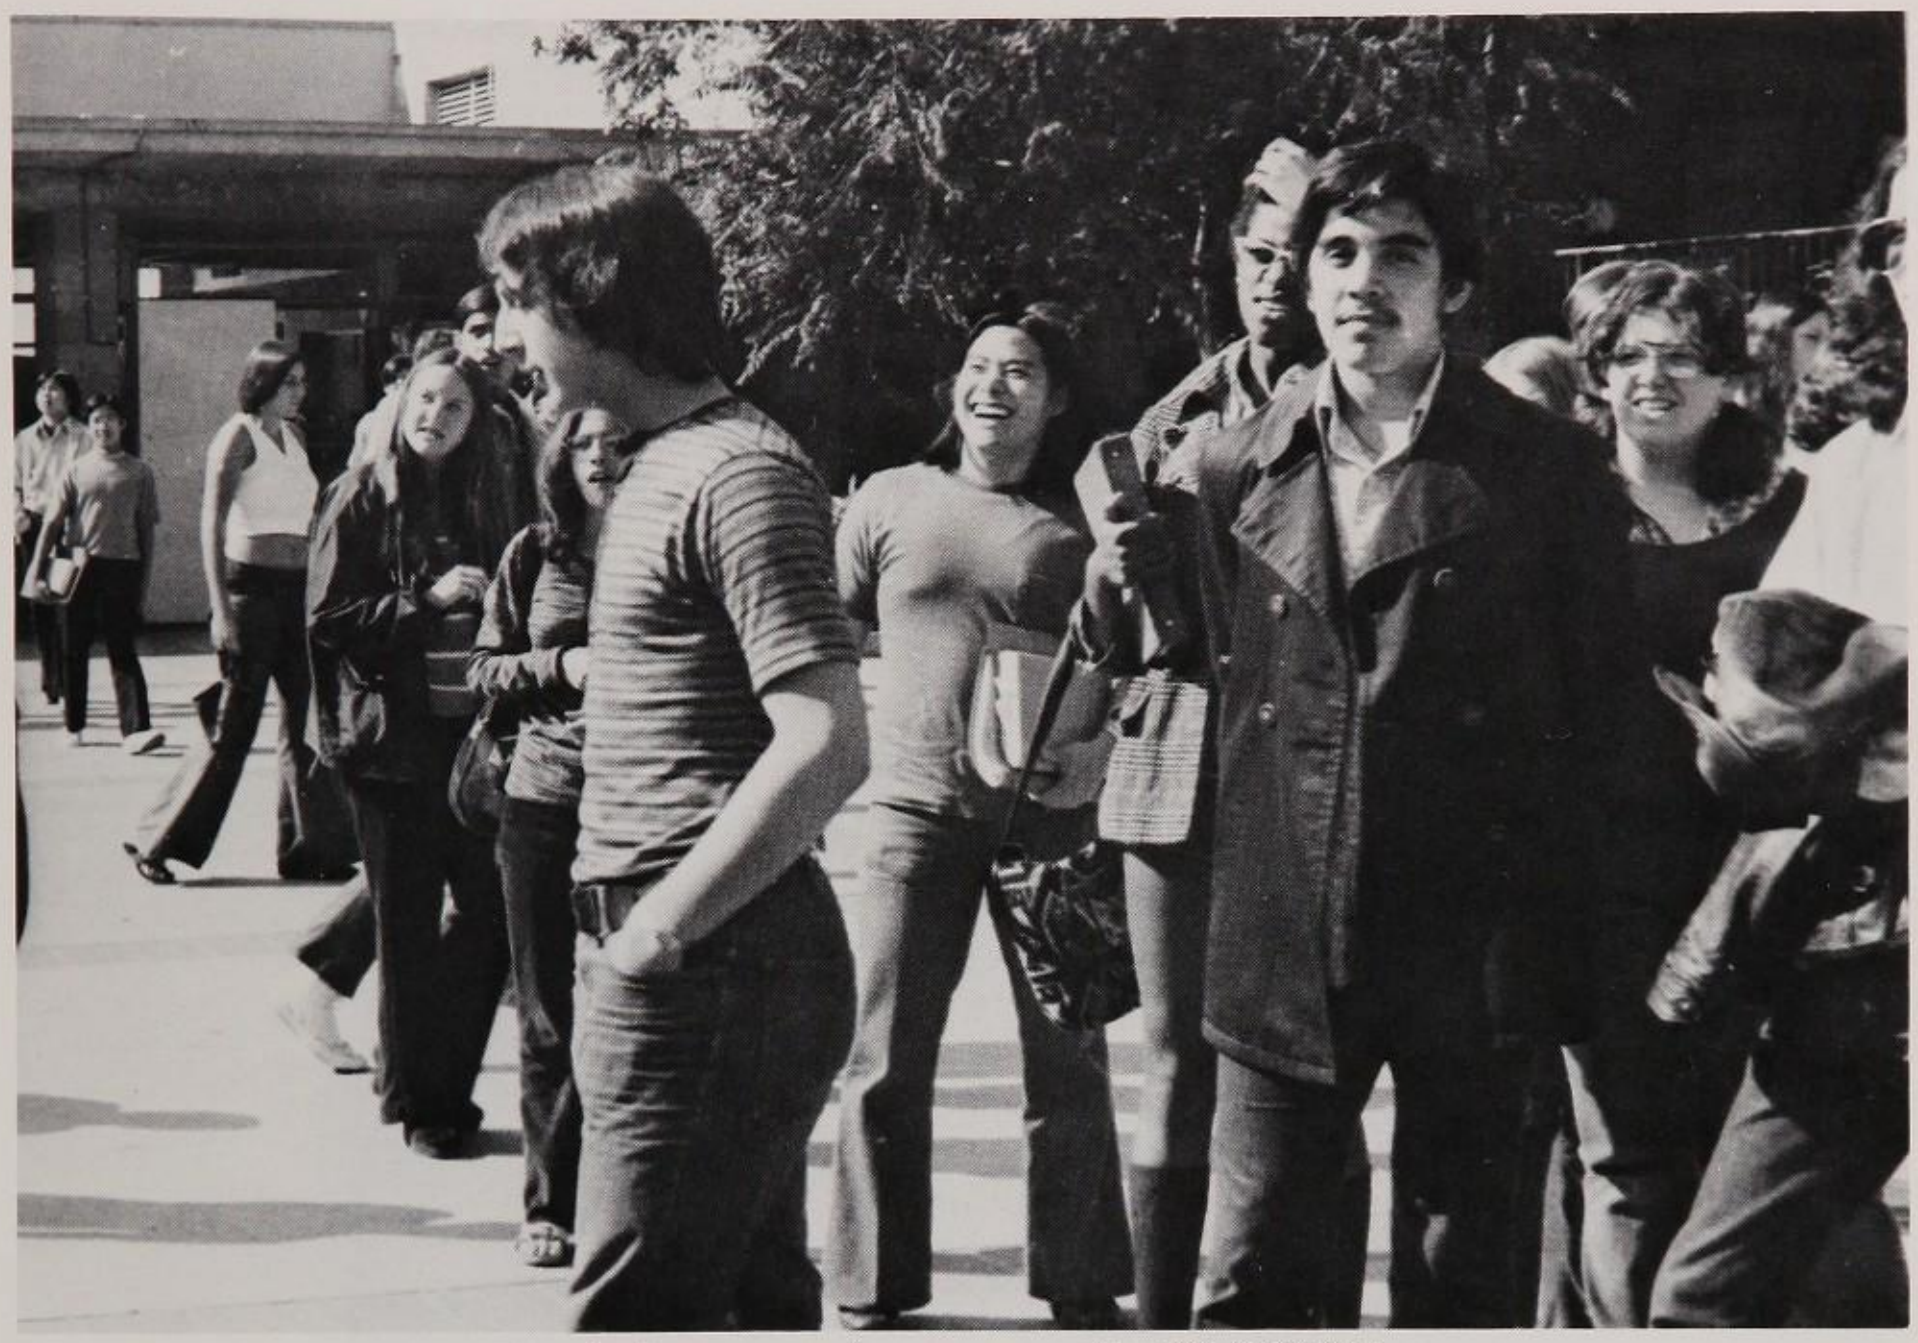
Knights of the Gridiron

Weekly initiations, such as Walter Laughridge's on this page, liven the courtyard and halls as each game's chosen one or two foorball players become Knights of the Gridiron. Voted in by the remaining KG's (from the year before) an the coach at the beginning of the season, the first Knights are initiated and join "the club" to choose the outstanding Varsity players from the following games. And the cycle continues.

Members at the end of the 1972 victorious season were Mike Alexander, Kevin Austin, Dennis Barfield, Mike Bishop, Ken Galeai, Mark Gamble, Tom Kopas, Walt Laughridge, Bruce Powell, Denis Shanagher, Themi Tjovenos, Dave Van Winkle, Phil Vercammen, and Dave Zouzounis.



Lunchtime courtyarders are amused by KG initiation.

Bridge Club

The Lowell Bridge Club came back into existence after disappearing for about four years.

To become a bridge expert may take several years or a whole lifetime. Through Mr. Descilo, the members of the club learn the proper play of many hands and various bridge etiquettes.

Gastronomic Gourmet Society

The Gastronomic Gourmet Society is an organization formed for the purpose of exploring old and new horizons in food.

The club had a Greek pot-luck dinner, two outings to French and Italian restaurants, and a get together during the Christmas vacation.

Myriad

The members of MYRIAD, Lowell's literary magazine, have been working to put together a top rate magazine, including poetry, art work and short stories. MYRIAD exists to provide a means by which creative students can share their talent.

Film Viewing Society

Mr. George Moore, long the sponsor of the Lowell Film Viewing Society, joins a colorful poster and a group of film viewing enthusiasts in between the highly successful performances of the year. Not only were top films watched by good crowds, but the serial, Buck Rogers, was brought to Lowell to join what was known as the 'nostalgia' fad as well as the science fiction surge. Much, much more is in store for next year from the projector set. All films viewed have artistic as well as educational and entertainment value.

LOLA

La Organisasion de Latinos Americanos plans activities to be together "como hermanos." Under the direction of Mrs. Marian Murphy, the club works for social and academic growth for its members as well as seeking opportunities in higher education for them. It also tries to open the doors of Lowell to Latino students in San Francisco's junior highs.

Sherlock Holmes Society

The Sherlock Holmes Society writes and discusses mystery stories for the club's magazine, Fanzine, and also sponsored several movies to raise funds.

Members: Linda Arcellano, David Fineman, Brad Freeman, Gina Hitchcock, Kenya Johnson, Steven Shorb, Rene Sonnenblick, Julio Sosa, Yvonne Soy, Miriam Steinberg, Victor Yee.

Soccer Club

The main function of the Lowell Soccer Club is to promote a better relationship between the school and the parents of the players.

The club members were active, playing games against other schools, and raising funds at the Cardinal Carnival.

Programs

MUSIC

The Lowell Music Department, composed of instrumental, vocal, and theory classes, is one of the major co-curricular areas of the school. Besides performing groups, the department offers two academic courses: Jazz Workshop, an experimental class that introduces students to the history, performance, composition, and cultural impact of jazzmusic, and AP Music, which deals mainly with classical music and its facets.

Also in the music program are the weekly Noon Concerts, sponsored by Mrs. Stella Michaelian, which give talented students the opportunity to perform alone or in groups. Highlights of this series also included a preview of an orchestra concert and a performance of Lowell faculty members.

The Lowell Orchestra, the largest high school orchestra in San Francisco, ranks among the top youth orchestras in the nations. This year, the group, under the direction of Mr. Jack Pereira, performed three concerts in the Lowell auditorium, as well as participating in the Holiday Festival.

Other engagements included concerts at Scottish Rite Auditorium, Grace Cathedral, and Golden Gate Park. The Orchestra also attended a reception for Maestro Seiji Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony.

Lowell's Symphonic Band members felt honored by receiving the highest possible award for their outstanding performance at the California Music Educators Association festival held in April. The Band, conducted by Mr. Paul Zahtilla and students Floyd Reinhart and Tony Mazzaferro, had a busy concert season, beginning with football games and rallies, a program a Luther Burbank Junior High, and an eight a.m. concert of Christmas music in the Lowell courtyard during December.

POP, STAGE BANDS

In the Spring, the Pop Band played numerous concerts for civic events to earn money for the Band Blazer Fund.

The Stage Band, under Mark Estebez, appeared at Zellerbach Plaza, in a program of jazz music and again in Happy Days '73 with the Symphonic Band. The "Bearcats" from The Boyfriend and the musicians in The Importance of Being Earnest were band students. And to round out each semester, the combined Sophomore, Concert, Symphonic, and Stage Bands presented joint concerts at Lowell.

CHORAL

The Choral Department is led by Mr. John Land, who transferred to Lowell last September. A versatile director and talented musician, Mr. Land has in one year revamped the choral department to include four lively vocal classes, offering everything from classical music to the musical theater.

This year vocal students performed at local events in addition to the traditional graduations and Holiday Festival. In addition, the students took part in the production of Happy Days '73 in May. Student teacher Miss Frink and student conductors helped make the past year a successful one for the Lowell Choral Department.

DRAMA

Drama classes in cooperation with the entire Creative Arts Department presented "The Boyfriend" (a lavishly colorful musical) for the Fall '72 term production. The multitude of players were received in the Lowell Auditorium by a full house three nights in December. Produced by surprisingly adept amateur players, the program received rave reviews from the newspapers.

All sets, costumes, and choreography was original, with Mr. Joe Tanzi masterminding the total effort. Music and dance students participated, too.

The Spring production, put on by the same cooperating forces, was "The Importance of Being Earnest," a light comedy for those with a developed sense of humor. Though not received by so glorious nor enthusiastic audience as the Fall show, the play was highly entertaining and truly well done.

Two other "services" were part of the drama program this year. Reader's Theatre groups performed for English classes (and others who invited them) for a period of a month, giving 40-minute versions of Oedipus Rex, American Dream, Doll's House, Othello, and Glass Managerie. In this drama form everything is conveyed entirely through facial expression and voice. Students directed each group.

The second service project was a touring Children's Theatre with a cast of sixteen, making appearances at Stern Grove and over 40 elementary schools during April. Bettie Scodel directed and made props and costumes for "The Clown Who Ran Away."

LOWELL VARSITY FOOTBALL

Character was the mark of the championship team which defeated Wilson High, 15-0, in Candlestick Park on Turkey Day 1972. This attribute possessed the Lowell High Indians from the beginning to end, through thick and thin, from a near-disastrous decline toward the end of the round robin to an ascension to the glory of a championship.

Coach Ed Burns, who made life a little painful and frustrating at times for the players, is one reason the team went as far as they did. The other major factor was that this team was working toward one end, and that end of was rewarded on Thanksgiving Day.

A look at the team shows that its forte was defense. The Indians lived or died on defense. This unit of the team was headed by middle linebacker Dave Bon, and outside backers Phil Vercammen and Mark Gamble. The front four consisted of Bruce Barker, Mike Alexander, Walt Laughridge, and Al Toeaina. All but Barker were named to all-city first teams. The defensive backfield of Dennis Barfield, Dave Zouzounis, Bruce Powell, and Kevin Austin was rarely seen burned.

Offense. Handled by quarterbacks Tom Kopas and Themi Tjovenos. Most of the yardage gained through the entire season came from fullback Dave Van Winkle, halfbacks Kevin Austin and Dennis Barfield. Van Winkle was the most enduring runner around as he was always up the middle for 3, 4, or 5 yards. His drive and determination along with a countless amount of effort were assets which led the Indians to score. Kevin Austin, quick and inconsistent, when able to shake loose around end or off tackle, was almost unstoppable.

Injuries always hurt a team. Lowell was no exception as Dennis Barfield was the most major loss for the team. His period of inactivity offensively from the second half of the Westmoor game to the start of the Washington game may have cost Lowell countless scores. In the season which should have been his finest, Barfield suffered a broken wrist in the first game. Barfield's ability could be measured as a comfination of both Var Winkle and Austin. His open field speed plus the power and determination of Van Winkle would have made him the best back in the city, plus the depth in the backfield which Lowell needed so desperately. His return to the offensive end of the gridiron in the Washinton game was a smashing success. He scored three touchdowns in addition to making 130 yards in 13 carries. This lift seemed to carry the Indians through the playoffs and on to the rewarding championship which was rightfully won.

The sophomore football team placed very well for the year 1972. Their record of 5-2-1 brought them second place.

The sophs were led by most valuable player Mike Kuhn, at quarterback. There were also four fine running backs in Bill Cicerone, Pat Burke, Chuck Winters and Demetrius Wilson. Anchoring the line were Mark Markel and Mark Vignoles.

J.V.'s Take Third

Lowells' mighty jayvees performed a complete turnabout of previous seasons by ending the 1972 campaign with an impressive 5-2 record. This record may seem unusual for a Lowell junior-varsity football team, as former squads have been noted for losing more contests than they've won. This years' difference was a fired-up team which had a great desire for victory.

The squad, coached by Andrew Korba, must certainly attribute most of its success to its grueling defensive unit, which gave opponents a mere average of under 10 points per game. The foundation of this punishing defense was the front line, which featured Jim Nikas, Jorge De Quesada, Louie Roselli, Dave Woo, and Sean O'Rielly. Another outstanding contributor was linebacker Al Suzuki.

The junior Indians' offense which accumulated 840 total yards was led by second year quarterback Mike Molenda. The fine running of backs Robert Ellis and Fernando De Alba was also a great factor in the victorious season.

SOCCER TEAM BEST IN YEARS

For the second consecutive year, the Lowell Soccer Team finished in the Championship Game. Overall, the team finished in second place, being beaten 4-2 by Mission in the Championship.

In regular season play, the team won six games, tied Balboa 0-0 and lost to Mission 3-1. Something must be said for the seniors who have been on the team for the past three years. In those three years, the Lowell team has finished in the semi-finals (1970) and the championship twice (1971 and 1972). Before, Lowell had never had a team that was in contention for the championship. The fine coaching of Mr. Ernest Feibusch as well as the excellence of those players who have been on the team for three years have resulted in the team's new prominence. Both Toby Rappolt and David Lea were chosen first-string all-city this year. Toby was chosen for the all-American team. Pat Wong, Greg Low, Paul Scardina, and Tuna Hernandez made up the fine defense that helped win the Lowell team another championship berth. Halfbacks were Toby Rappolt, Dave Lea, and David Ho-Sang. Alberto was the team high scorer for the second year in a row, scoring nine times. The other forwards were Joe Cuadra and Pedro Perino.

CROSS COUNTRY FARES WELL

Atkins Chun led the Lowell Varsity Cross-Country team to a winning 1972 season. The Indians won every meet except that against Balboa, placing second in dual meet seasonal standing and second in the varsity division in All-City. Although the varsity squad has been first in years past, it fared well considering it lost Brad Duffey through graduation and Mark Hipp to injuries.

Atkins placed first in the All-City meet, running the 2.5 mile course in 11:31.3. He was closely followed by Jon Keyak, fourth, Craig Nathanson, eigth, (Craig was a Junior, moved to run varsity at the last minute), Mike Dunn, 12th, Ronnie Fong, 17th. There were 58 men running in the varsity division.

Other Lowell varsity runners were, Ted Paxinos, Mark Hipp, (All-City being his only meet of the season), Peter Chao, Pius Kao, Herbert Low, and Jon Irvine.

The Junior Varsity squad came through with a first place in All-City and an almost undefeated dual meet record.

The Sophomores lost most of their meets and placed fourth in All-City.

Jon Keyak and Atkins Chun set the pace.

AN OVERALL VIEW...

Without the benefit of having the league's best player as in the two previous years, the 1972-1973 Lowell Varsity Basketball Team languished through a losing season. As not all was good, obviously, not all was sordid. The season provided its bright spots, and it can be said that things could have been worse.

Starting in the fall with Mr. Gus Buono at coach, the overall pre-league record was a thoroughly unimpressive 5-9, though it was brightened by an upset of the eventval Mid-Peninsula League Champion, Mills. It was not so much the record, though, but the inability of the varsity to come together as a team that left the outlook for the AAA season dark.

It would be unfair to say that Lowell lacked talent - they just did not win with it. Too small to play playground-style, the varsity had to adjust by playing a consistent organized game. With much talent trapped on the bench and inexperience in the starting lineup, Lowell did not come close to achieving that quality until it was too late.

The AAA season began, the result was worse than expectations. Expected to contend in a well-balanced league, Lowell instead split its first two games and then lost six in a row, taking sole possession of last place among nine teams. The team played ineptly, the coaching was inadequate and the attitude was bad.

Having reached an undreamed-of low, the situation was to reverse itself. Dave Lynch came back from an injury and Stan Stewart came back from his sabbatical. The team began to win, taking Bal and O'Connell. Having removed themselves from last place and ignominity, they lost a heartbreaker to Galileo which ended their playoff chances. But playing the best basketball of the season under Stewart, they were not through. They were to return the favor to the rest of the teams that had beaten them, including Round-Robin Champion Wilson by winning their last five games, moving to sixth place and ending up with an 8-8 AAA record and respectability. The late season success made their start harder to bear, as it prevented them from reaching the playoffs.

Credit for the season, as it was, belonged to the players. Foremost to Dave Lynch, the senior center and sole consistent performer; John Palagalou, starting guard and floor leader; Erik Gilberg, ever-improving sophomore and high scorer; Bruce Barker, the junior forward who did the dirty rebounding work; and Jim Breen, the senior who finally started and was instrumental in the late season success.

LIGHTWEIGHTS SHOW SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Those scrambling, skinny, stars or as they are commonly known, the 115 and 125 exponent lightweight basketball team, had another successful year.

Addis Thomas, an all-city player, led the 115 exponent team to a third place finish and a play-off berth. The team met Washington in a semi-final game and was beaten. Washington then went on to win the championship. Nevertheless, players such as C. D. Lou, Ray Ju, Jim Baer, and Mike Leon played outstandingly and made the season worthwhile.

The 125's, led by all-city players Reggie Regino and Roger Lewis, finished in first place in the city. The team won their first play-off game against Wilson and then moved into the championship game against Washington. Players Kendall Louie, Gordon Jeung, and George Obana along with Reggie and Roger played a hard fought game, but lost. The Indians finished a brilliant season with a 7-2 record.

J.V. Basketball Team Disqualified After Gaining Playoffs

Five games into the season the JV basketball team was cruising along with a 4-1 record. At this point the team made a complete turnabout by losing the three remaining games, barely able to qualify for a playoff berth.

The team never did get a shot at a championship or even have the experience of playing in a playoff game. The JV's were disqualified when they were found guilty of breaking a league rule whereby any player on a team in the Academic Athletic Association cannot play on any other team in any other league. Guilty of the infraction was Lowell's Ken Galeai, who was found playing in his church basketball league. The fifth place team, Balboa, was then vaulted into a playoff berth.

However, this wasn't the end of the disqualifying. The following day a thorough checking was made by league officials. They found that Balboa had a player who was ineligible because of a lack of credits. So Bal was replaced in the playoffs by sixth place Galileo, a team with a dismal record, 2-6.

Before all this scandal the Lowell JV's had been playing some fine basketball. Outstanding performances were turned in by many, highlighted by Chris "The Hawk" Johns, a 5' 11" soph who strung together games of 21, 33, and 21 points. After he missed the opening two games of the season, Chris came on to score at a 20-point per game clip.

The only other soph in the starting lineup was 5' 10" forward Scott Thoreau, who turned in a high game of 16 points. The rest of the starting lineup consisted of three uniors, led by 6' 3" center Kenny Baker who tossed in 15 points a game. Kenny was also the team's tower of strength on the boards, leading the team in that category.

From the outside Ken Galeai and Yun Sang Choun were constant threats. They were often seen firing in jumpers ranging from 15 to 25 feet away. Yun Also served as the "quarterback," controlling the tempo of the game.

Coming off the bench to provide the needed spark were juniors Kevin Austin and Jesse Cottingham.

VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM CHAMPS . . .

The champs congragulate each other.

. . . AGAIN

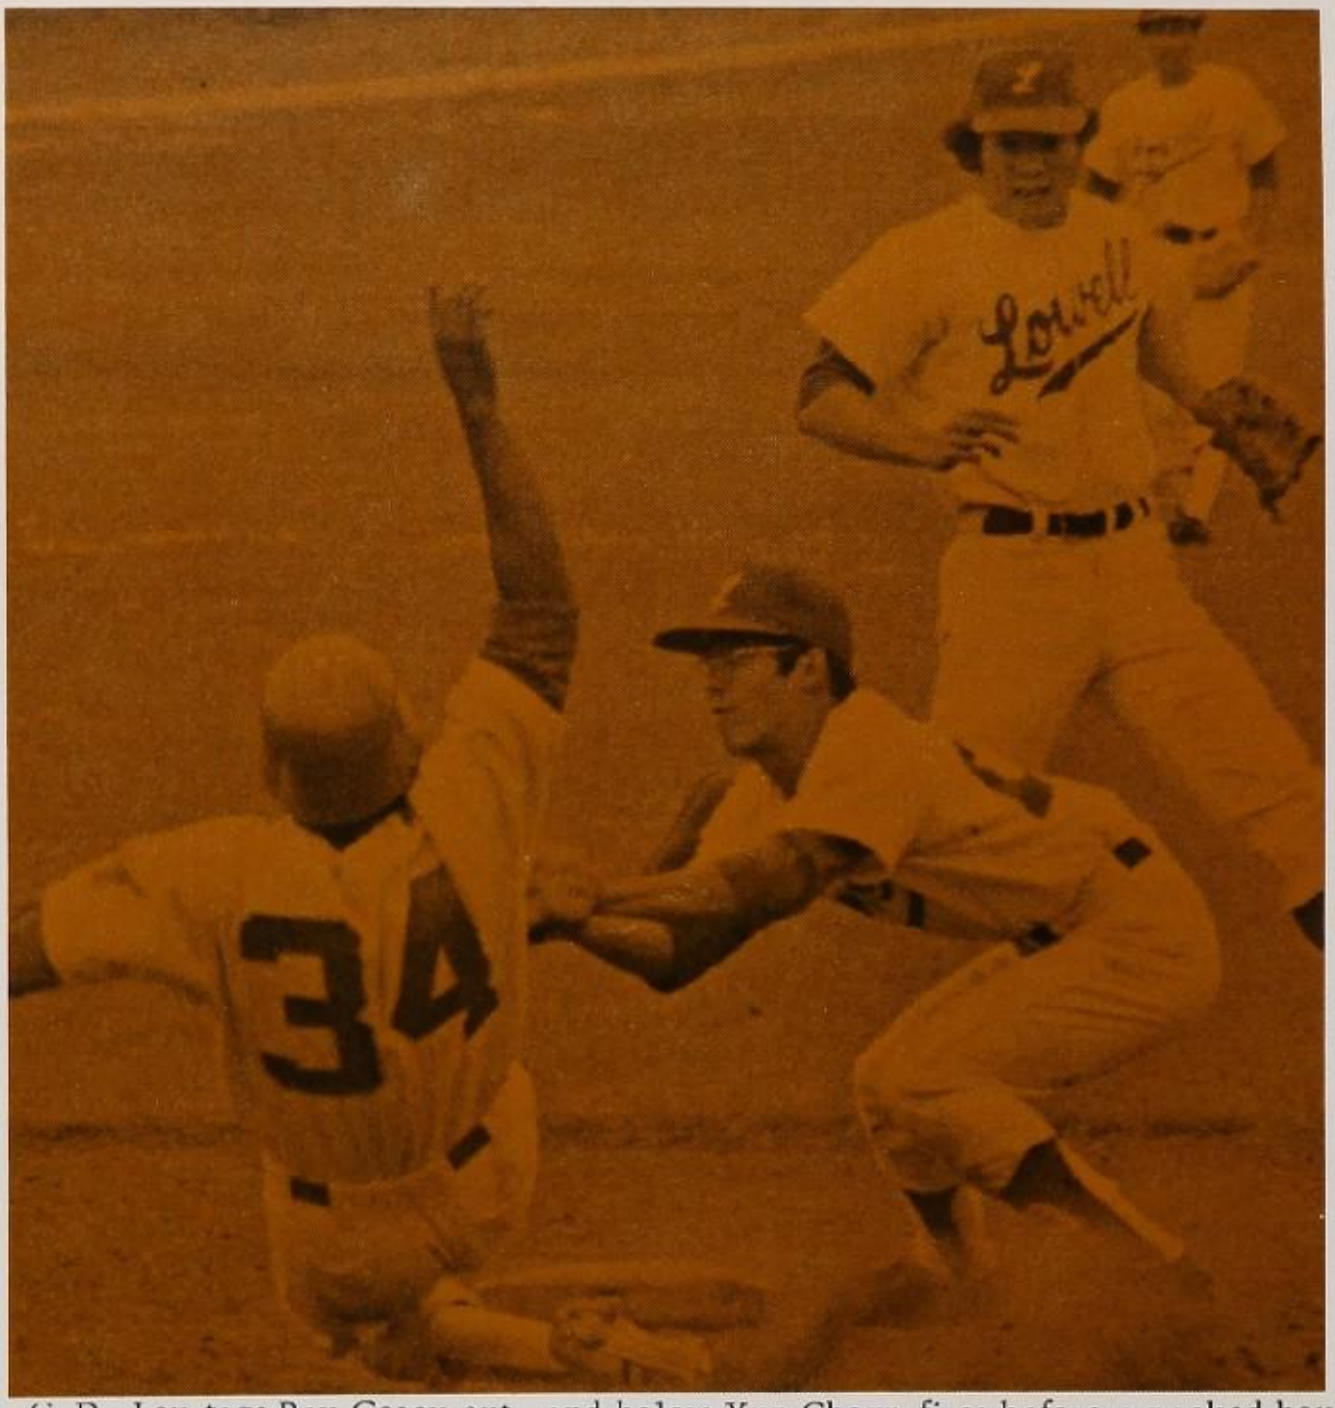
The Lowell High Varsity baseball team took the city championship for the second year in a row, beating rival Lincoln in a tense contest, 6-5.

The Indians started off the season sluggishly, dropping their first two frays to Lincoln. Under the leadership of Coach Don Richardson, they jelled to take 11 out of their 12 games for second place and a playoff berth.

In the playoffs, the Lowell Nine first bumped off Balboa in a slugfest, 14-11. Next came Wilson the following afternoon. Lowell squeaked by in the seventh and final inning, 4-3.

Round Robin titlist Lincoln was the only obstacle on path to the championship. The outlook was bleak, withe Fred Breining and his 9-0 record slated to pitch against the Indians. But the Good Guys hung in there and tagged Breining for six tallies on ten hits to hand him his only defeat of the year.

For many, this contest was the last high school baseball game. Bruce Powell, Kirk Pasquinelli, Dennis Barfield, Dave Bon, Richard Blaisdell, Terry Moore, C. D. Lou, Walter Laughridge, Peter Haris, Robert Cook and Gary Erickson are graduating seniors. We will definitely miss their superior brand of baseball.



C. D. Lou tags Ray Cosey out, and below Yun Choun fires before a packed house at Big Rec.

Dave Bon scores on a passed ball and takes Fred Breining with him.

Blaisdell takes second.

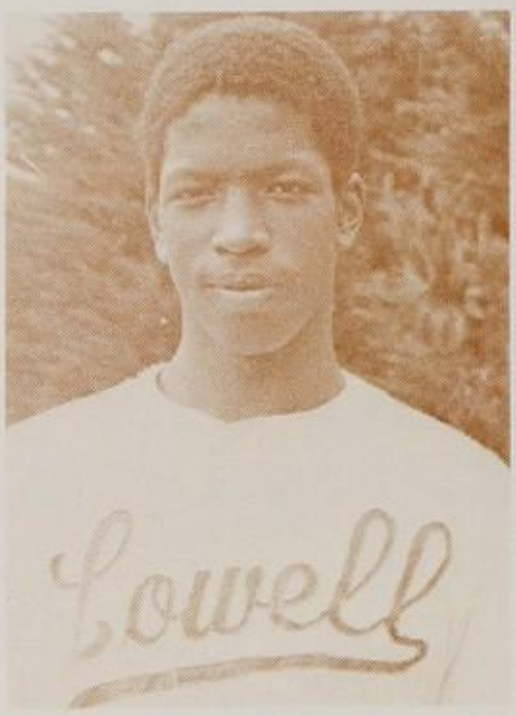
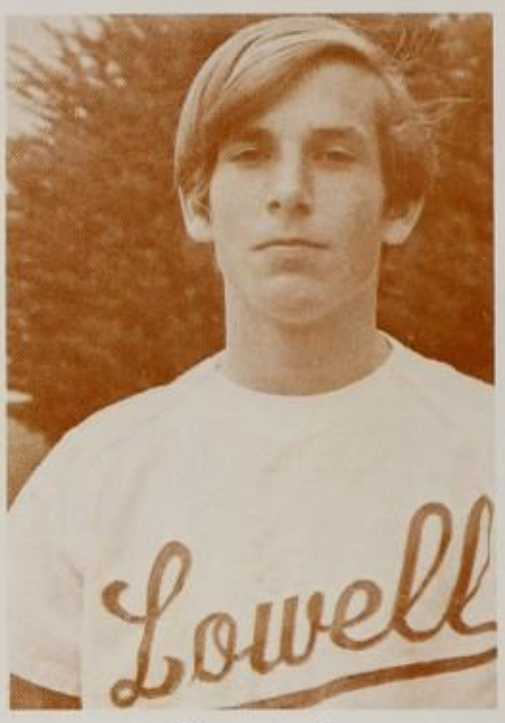
Junior Varsity Runs Away With Title



Bruce Barker



Dave Loftus

Lowell's Junior Varsity baseball team swept to the Round Robin and City Championship titles for the second consecutive year by walloping their opponents in the post-season finale, 9-6.

The Junior Indians bumped off their first seven challengers, outscoring them by the lop-sided figure of 76-18. Then, after cinching the Round Robin title, the squad lost a close contest to rival Lincoln, 7-6, to finish off the regular season.

One reason for the JV's success was the leadership and defensive talents of second-year veteran Kevin Grumbach. Playing at his usual catcher's position, the junior handled Lowell's pitchers well. Grumbach's powerful throwing arm and cat-like quickness enabled him to cut down opponents trying to steal the bases.

Pitching also was a factor for the Junior Cardinals. Flinger Bob Hauser went through the entire season undefeated with a record of 4-0. Mark MacCauley tossed his way to a 4-1 mark, including a no-hitter against the Washington Eagles.

Offensively, Lowell possesed some of the biggest bats in the league. First baseman Bruce Barker was the clutch hitter, racking up 15 runs batted in over the year to lead the JV's in that department.

A common sight to viewers in the stands was Dave Loftus swinging his was on base, ending up with a batting average of .471--tops on the Junior Varsity.

Stan Mason, placed in centerfield defensively, made an ideal leadoff man, either hitting his way onto the basepaths or working opposing pitchers for the base on balls.

MARK JEE AND VARSITY TENNIS NO. 1!

"Lowell's tennis team was the best this school has had in the past five years." This bold statement came from Mr. Felix Grauss, the resident pro at Lowell who dubs as the tennis coach. Mr. Grauss' words are not hollow. Lowell convincingly defeated every one of their city opponents and soundly thrashed almost every school out of the city. Next year's team will be hard pressed to accomplish the feats of this year's team.

Pride is a key word in tennis playing, and the players fill this word admirably. First, there's the dynamic doubles team of Stan Woo and David Ho Sang. Both of these fine players understand the sublities of the game and completely dominate every match they play in. High hopes abound for their college careers in tennis. Lastly is the best tennis player ever to come out of San Francisco-Mark Jee. Mark was the dominating force in city tennis. For three consecutive years he won the varsity singles championships. Also for the past three years he's been ranked number one in the city. Praise flows freely for this marvelous athlete, who wor every city match he played in, dominating his opponents with his powerful serve, precise backhand and lightening quick vollies. Lowell's tennis history is losing a great player, but we're sure we'll be reading about Mark in the Green Section of the newspaper as he continues his winning ways.

A championship season requires a team to back those individuals with superior talent. Everyone on the team pulled together as a unit, playing continually superb tennis, as well as maintaing a high feeling of poise and morale.

Girls Enjoy Powder Puff

The Low Senior offensive team was headed by Maggie Waters and Eileen Mistoes as very able quick thinking quarterbacks. Arline Tsuchiya, Robi Ingram, Chris Tsiliacos and Joan Silverman lead the scoring against the High Seniors and Juniors. The offensive line was spectacular in preventing the rivals from dumping the quarterback.

The defensive team, led by linemen Jeri Zemon, Jeanne Brandt, Kathy Thompson and Kathy Lord never let anyone through without thoroughly demolishing them. If anyone slipped through their grasps, the equally tough linebackers Kathy Wong, Edith Cheng and Loretta Zammarchi finished the job. The backfield also performed a fantastic job covering receivers and intercepting passes, as proved by Marilyn McAdams who collected a number of High Senior passes at crucial moments of the games.

Jeanne Brandt took the overall Most Valuable Player award with runners up Edith Cheng, Kathy Wong and Arline Tsuchiya, in that order.

Confusion was never an aspect of powder puff, as all players focused on the game at all times.

Girls Tennis Team

Twirling their racquets enthusiastically this past Spring, Lowell's Girls' Tennis Team played their way to the All-City Championship, walking off with the trophy. The twenty-seven-membered team was represented by their top three singles players and number one doubles team.

Displaying fine team work and often beating their opponents with scores such as 6-0, 6-0, Wendy Blakeman and Debbie Winetrub represented Lowell in doubles. Alison Wong, winning many games with her strong forehand, was in number three position.

Number two singles player, Karin Nolan, produced fast hard serves and spins that made one almost afraid to blink for fear of losing sight of the ball. Lastly, but certainly not least, undefeated number one player--Nancy McBribe--player her games with a precision and calmness that fooled many opponents.

Perhaps the greatest credit goes to the team's fearless and confident coach, Miss Barbara Prato. Her words of advice and encouragement can be summed up in the trophy that now sits in Lowell High School. Abby Caul, manager of the team is the one to blame for the well-organized and uninterrupted games, and indeed, the finger also points to Patty Kong for her role as hostess in serving surprise refreshments to the players.

Above all, three cheers for the other 20 members of the team who did not play but did a terrific job of cheering their teammates on.

Volleyball Team Undefeated Champions

The Lowell High Volleyball Team swept their fourth consecutive All-City Championship this year, with special thanks to skilled veterans Jeanne Brandt, Joan Silverman, and Quincy Yu. In addition to the original members, six new members were added to the team this year.

Thirteen, however, did not prove to be an unlucky number, for the season was an easy sweep with the exception of the Galileo game, but concentration and team work conquered the one and only high hurdle. It was easy flying the rest of the way. Coach Kay DuVal has done it again!

Swimmers Splash To Overall Title

The Lowell swim team ended the season with a terrific showing in the All-City meet. Throughout the season the Varsity remained undefeated while the lightweights lost only to Galileo and Washington.

The team as a whole did very well in the All-City meet, placing swimmers in the top three places in all events but four, one of those being the 130's diving--Lowell had no one entered.

Divers otherwise swept the Varsity category with Toby Rappolt, Pat Lammie, and Matt Lorence placing 1, 2, and 3. Kim Slaughter captured the 120's diving title.

Throughout the year the team worked together with no lack of spirit. The outlook for next year is very promising, especially with the prospect of strong female swimmers on the team.

TRACKSTERS TAKE THIRD IN ALL CITY

Gil Marvaillas leaps in the broad jump.

Soph Chuckie Winters bursts from the starting blocks.

The 1973 track season at Lowell wasn't fantastic, but it was far from disappointing. The Indians clinched fourth place in AAA duel meet competition, but moved up a spot to capture third place in the All-City Meet.

Surprisingly Lowell didn't take a first in the All-City Meet, but were balanced enough to revenge their dual meet loss to Lincoln and finish behind powerful Balboa and Wilson.

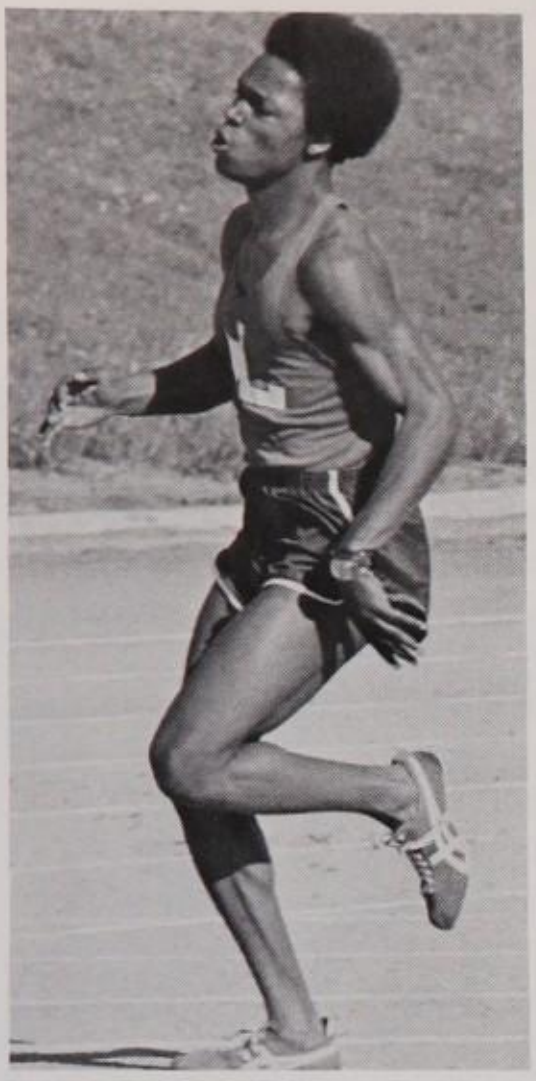
Thet

The thing the Indians did best of all this year was to break school records. Senior pole vaulter Rodney Olsen broke the existing school record and finished a strong second place in the All-City-Meet by soaring over the bar at 12'6". Both the mile and 440 yard relay records were also lowered. The 440 yard relay team of Pat Burke, Gary Harris, Van Carter, and Chuck Winters, lowered the record to 44 seconds flat and the mile relay team of Ken White, Dewayne Sweet, Van Carter, and Chuck Winters, bettered that mark to 3 minutes, 32 seconds.

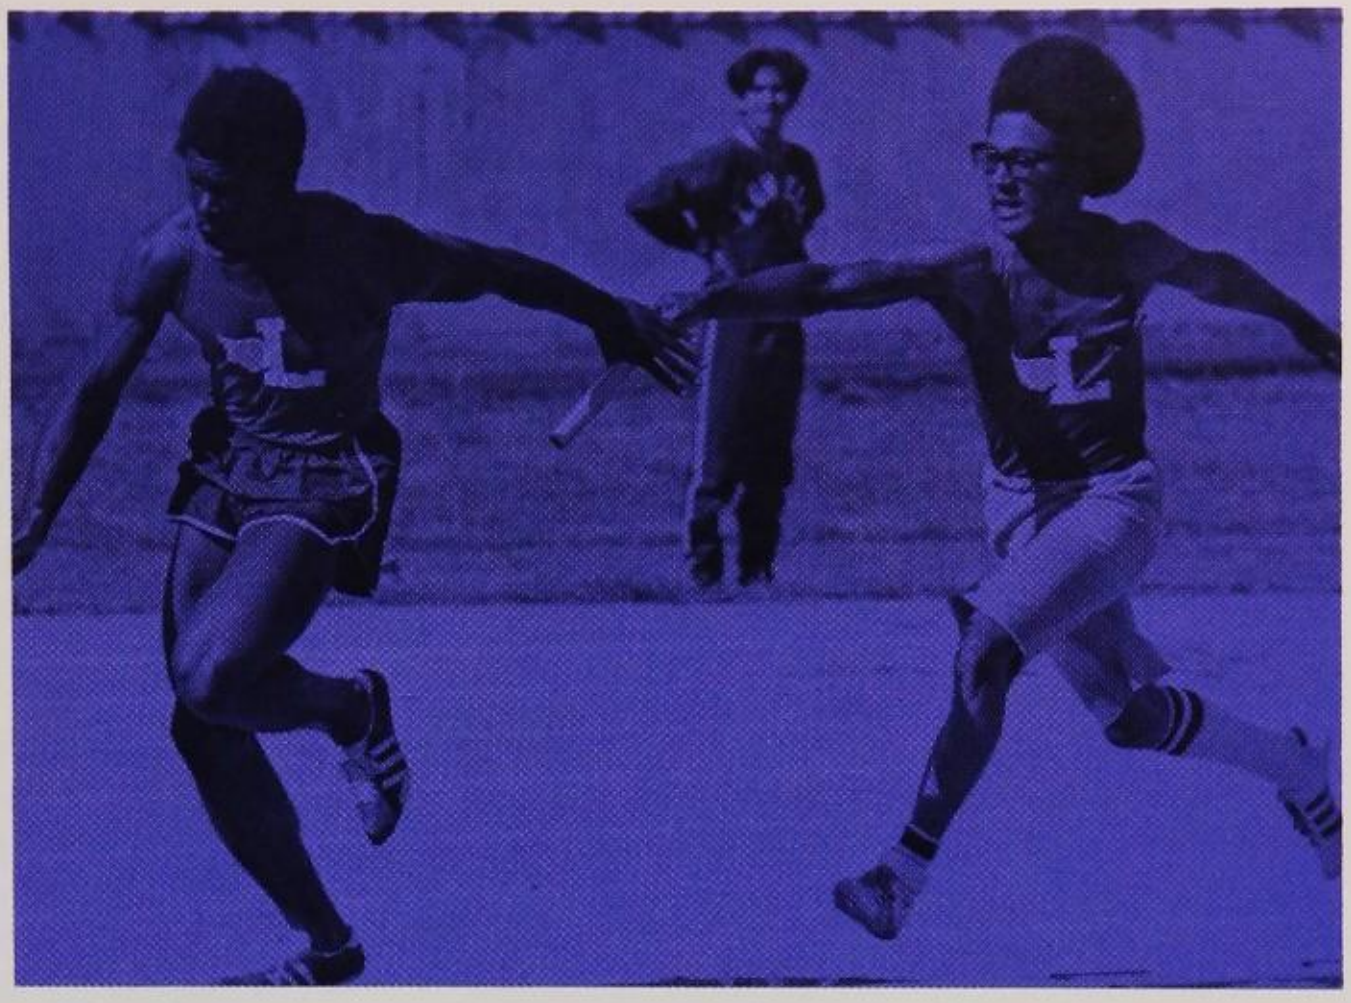
In the All-City-Meet spinter Van Carter also placed well in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes. Mark Hipp took second place in the mile, as did Doug Wolf in the discuss. Jim Abenroth took a third in the 880, and both relay teams placed well to complete the well balanced effort.

Other team members who always got the points this year were Ken Baker, Jim Mittleburgher Dewayne Sweet, Gary Harris, and long jumpers Gilbert Marvaillas, Francis Bagaman and Mitchell Guimarin.

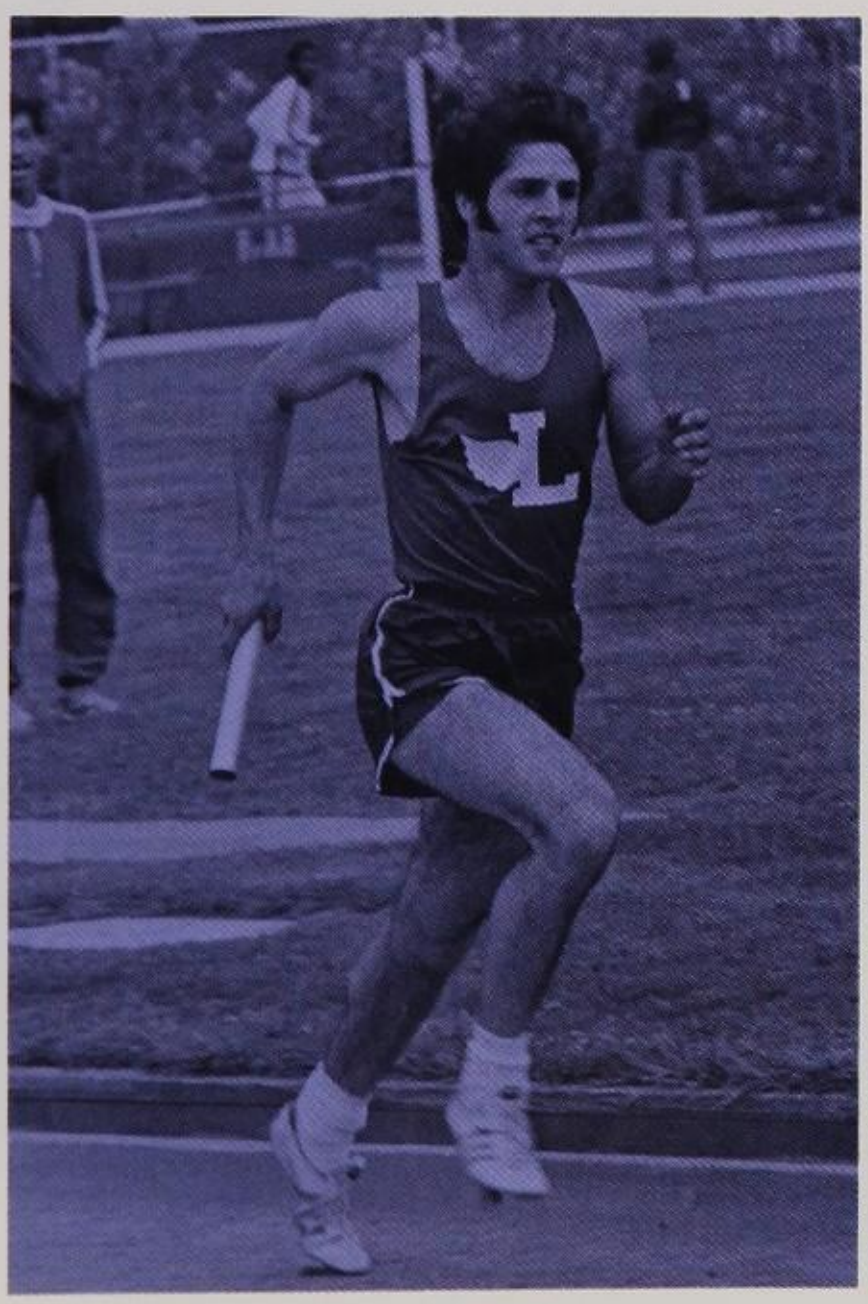
Led by spinter Pat Burke, the sophomore team also had a winning season as they placed second in the dual meets and took third in the All-City. Burke took home two first place medals in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and helped out a very strong 440 yard relay team.



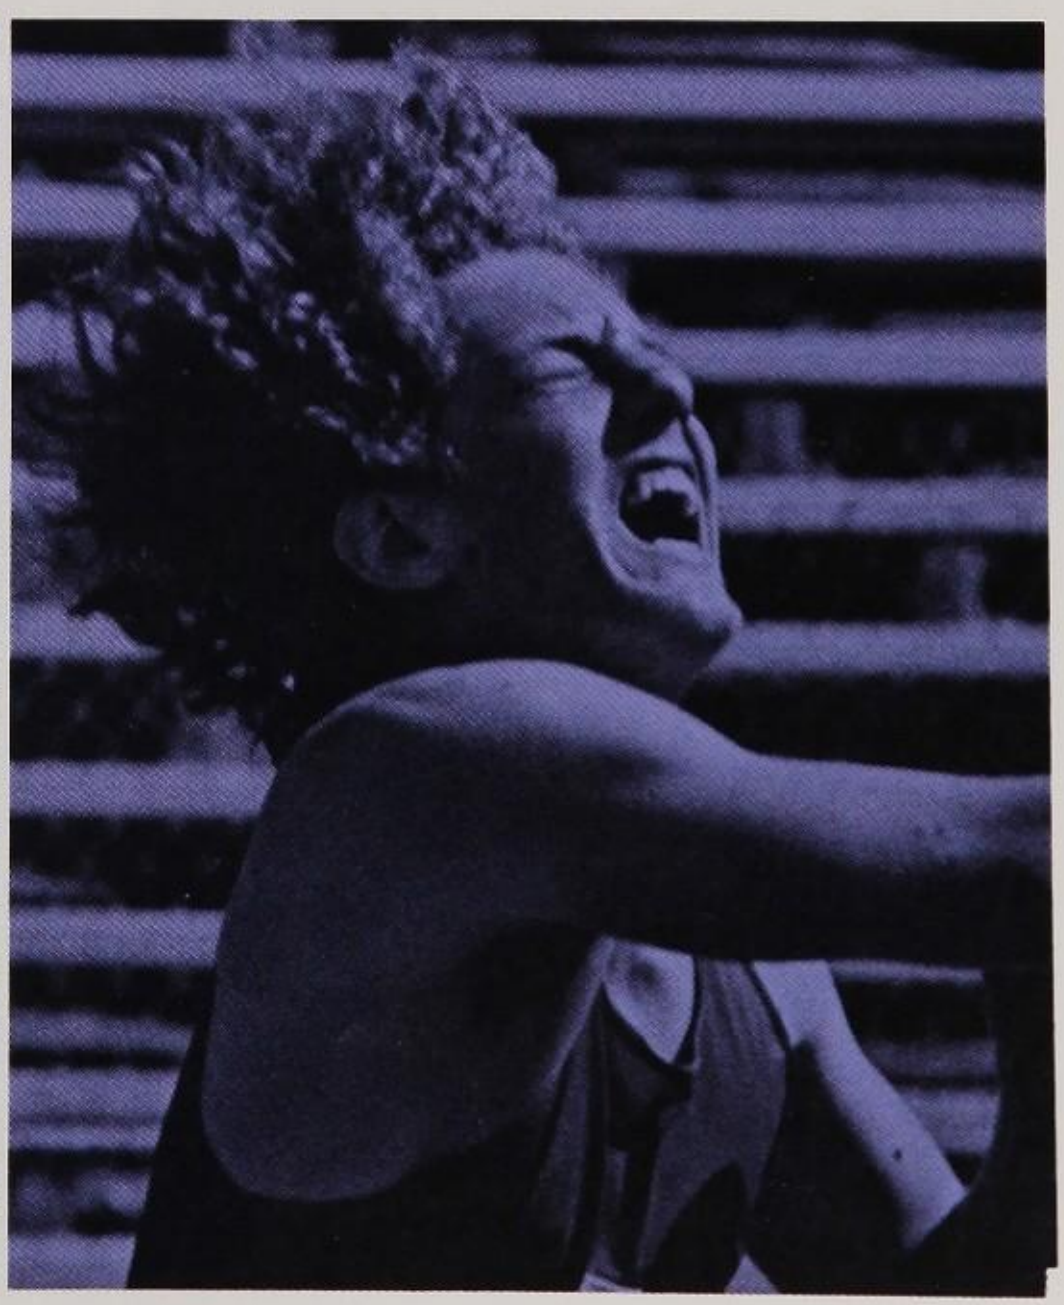
Funkey Dewayne Sweet.



Gary Harris passes the baton to Van Carter: SMOKE!



Ted Paxinos runs his leg of the relay.



Jim Mittleberger releases his frustration.

GOLFERS TAKE TEAM TITLE

Amidst the long green fairways and smooth green putting surfaces, the Lowell golf team successfully defended its Academic Athletic Association team title.

Senior Bruce Cardinal, juniors Randy Gill and Jim McGilley, with sophomore Erik Gilberg were the four golfers who clinched the successful defense of the title by defeating Lincoln High by 14 strokes in the final match.

Lincoln, Balboa, and Washington finished the season tied for second place.

In the AAA individual tournament Lowell placed four of the eight finalists in Gilberg, Mc Gilley, senior Ed Stephenson, and sophomore Steve Lieber. However defending champion Jeff Hawkes of Lincoln took the title. Gilberg and McGilley tied for third, ten strokes behind Hawkes.

Dave Garcia captured the junior varsity individual title to mark the third consecutive year a Lowellite has won the honor.

Also competing this year were seniors Mike Bagatelos and Bill Black, along with Andrew Alenick.

Varsity Golf: Jim McGilley, Ed Stephenson, Steve Lieber, Dave Garcia, Erik Gilberg, Bruce Cardinal

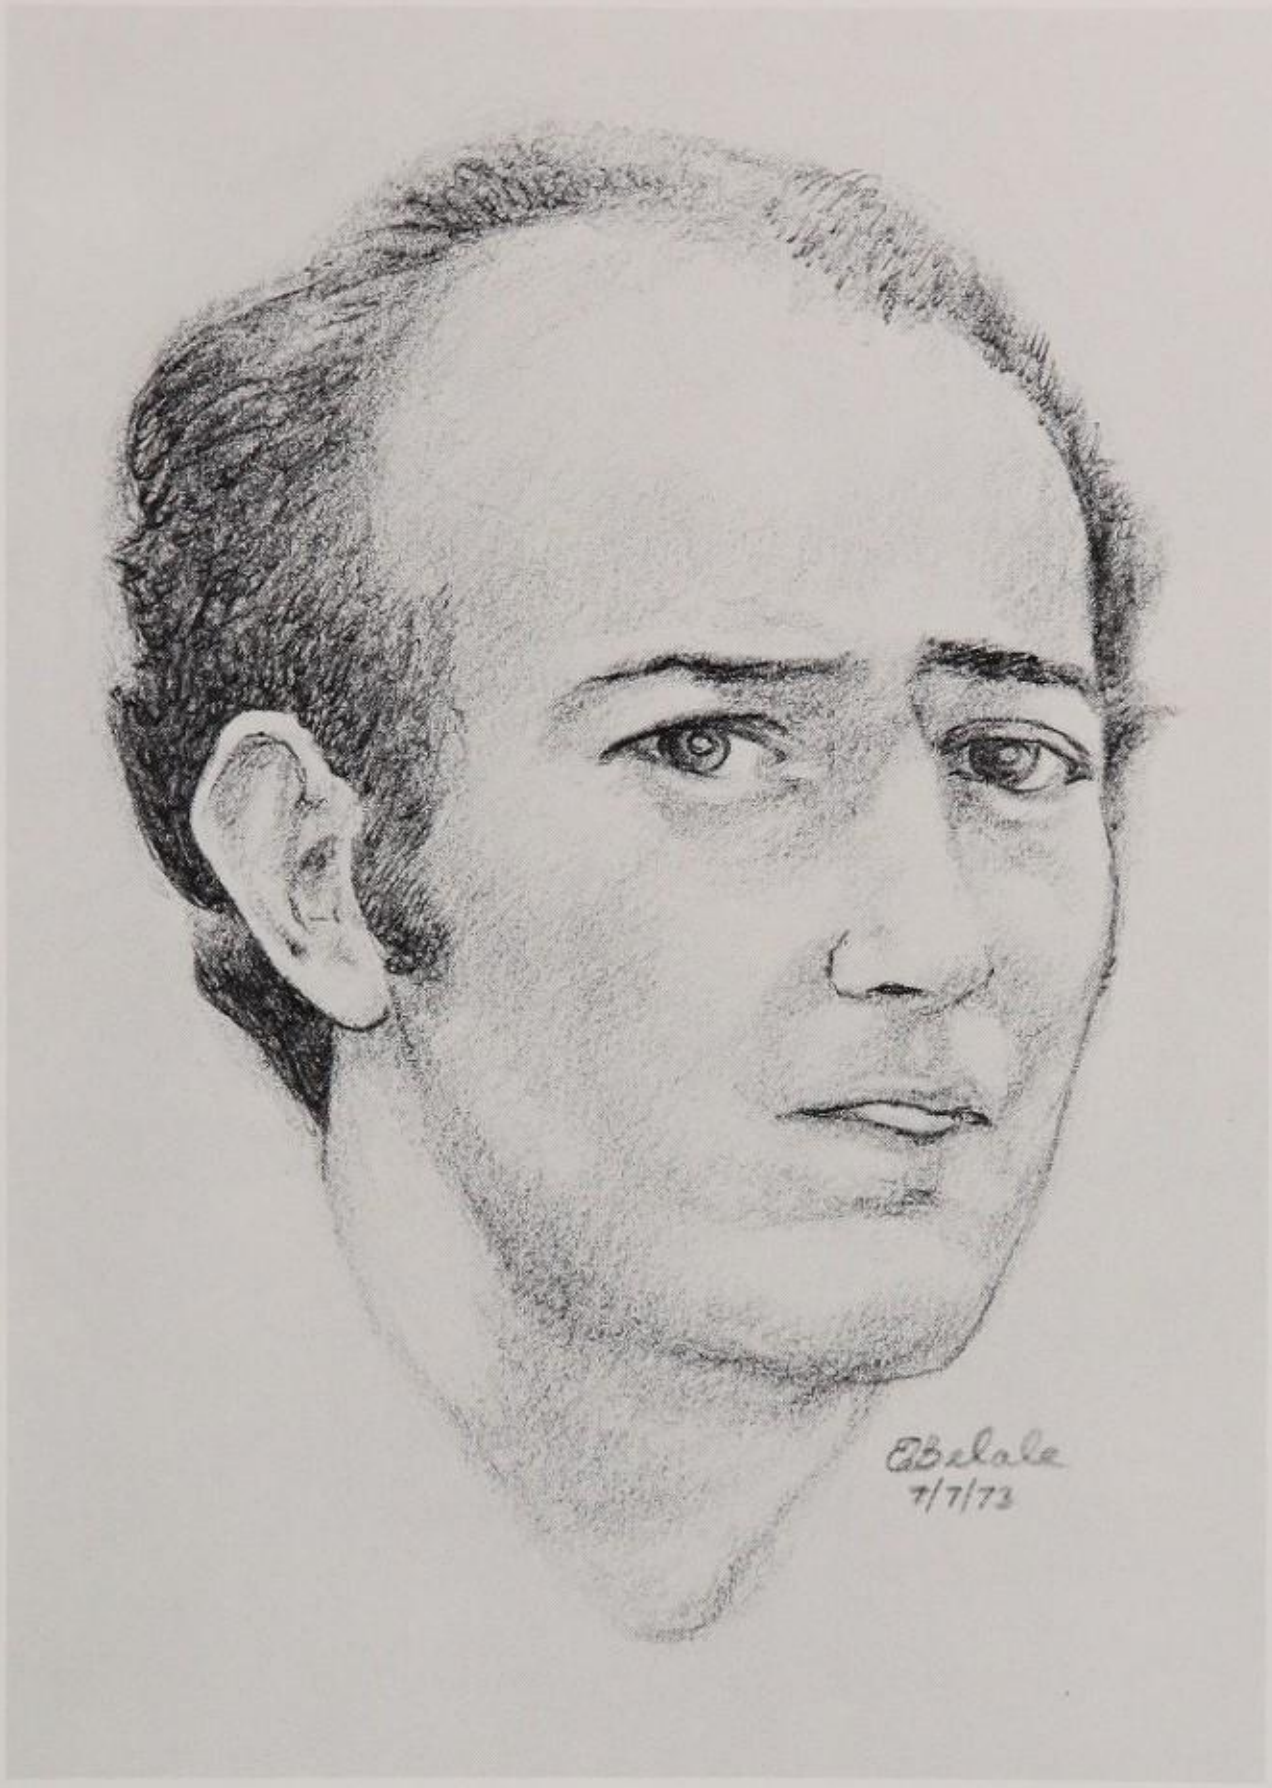
RIFLE TEAM TO THE TOP

The Lowell team that has the best 'win record' of all is the seldom-spoken-of Rifle Team, dominating the state and national competition for several years.

The highest individual average for Northern California small bore competition is held by Lowell--an amazing 268.7 (out of 300).

Coach Mack B. Yoshida is rightly proud of the efforts of the team. Like a good football team, practice made the rifle team. Constant practice of over an hour everyday is vital to high consistent scores.

FACULTY



IN MEMORIAM

A native of Choshocton, Ohio, Mr. John Stillions taught French, Spanish, German, and Russian before coming to Lowell six years ago.

Mr. Stillions met his death as a result of a fall from his apartment in February, 1973.

Described as a loner and a very quiet man, completely devoted to teaching, he never complained. He was assigned a variety of classes. He had complete control of French, and though he was often described as tense, he saw learning as recreation. He felt there was not enough time to accomplish everything and was indeed a "profound student."

Mr. Stillions is gone now, but not gone is the lesson learned--first, appreciate all we have while we have it, and, last, express that appreciation.

Not gone, either, is this last chance to pay tribute and honor to Mr. John Stillions--a man who gave himself to us through his teaching.

FAITH
POEM BY GINETTE GILLAND
In the past, I knew not what would happen in the future.
As I sit in the present,
I wonder of the time...
Later on.
What will fill it?
What will be there?
Will I look back at my dreams and then think again of the time later
on?
Past,
Present,
Future...

THIS CLASS IS ADJOURNED*

Three years behind us,
Three years that are done.
Three years to look back on,
Half work and half fun.
Three years to remember,
Three years in our past,
Three years of existence,
It all went so fast.

As we look back to our first day in here,
We can remember many a fear.
We wondered if we would ever succeed.
We would ever attain the grades we did need?

We wondered and worried and studied each book
We oftentimes failed despite the time that it took.
Yet on we struggled; we seldom said die,
Right up to this time when we said good-bye.

And all was not bad during our years,
It all looks quite good as leaving time nears.
The dances, the games, and other events
Make up three short years enjoyably spent.

But now comes the time for us to depart,
Though Lowell will always remain in our heart.
We will not forget the good times we've had
But leaving, you see, well it's just kind of sad.

But we will look back in all future years
And remember the time when we were all here.
We will recall old teachers and friends
And remember the school we used to attend.

Yes, now we are leaving,
We shall not return.
We bid all farewell,
This class is adjourned.

Gary English

SPECIAL EVENTS

The past year has been a memorable one. Lowell has managed to survive through one more year on its beautiful, spacious campus. Lowell still holds its name as the oldest high school in San Francisco as it approaches its one hundred and twenty - eighth year in existence.

The 1972-1973 school population was well over capacity. We can all vouch for this. At one time or another you were all in a hurry to a class and BOOM you found yourself caught in a traffic jam. The bell rang and there you stood pushing and shoving and cramped up for another two minutes. You tiptoed into class and hid your face hoping that the teacher hadn't observed your tardiness.

Passbook sales were off to a start with the beginning of the school year. The popularized student identification card died and $4.50 would purchase the "Lowell Student-Community Participation Passbook."

This book supposedly amounted to a cash value of over $125.00 and additional discounts were added during the school year.

No one will forget the unique Lowell fire drill. Beep, beep,..... students sat attentively with their ears perked up industriously counting the bells. Passing out of the building was not allowed until twenty-five distinct bells were were heard. In the meantime the east end of the building very well could have been in the process of burning to the ground. Toward the end of the school year our traditional expertise in fire drills returned.

October 13 was a tragic moment in the history of Lowell High School. A racial disagreement turned to turmoil in the central courtyard and five students were stabbed viciously and rushed to the emergency hospital. No one was critically injured.

November was a busy month. The senior class sponsored a dance on the bay which was a huge success. Turkey Day was a victorious day for the students of Lowell High School. The Indians put up a fight against the Warriors as the spirited student body and alumni cheered them on. Candlestick Park was a white cloud at the end of the game.

November 7, 1972, Nixon was re-elected president. Mixed emotions were noted through the city of San Francisco. Peace became a reality within a two month period after the inauguration of the President. Soon after, POW's began their long journey home. Many families awaited the arrival of their loved ones at Travis Air Force Base as well as various other military bases scattered throughout the United States. Shipyards started to close and many people lost their jobs as the result.

December started off with the smashing production of "The Boyfriend." The Lowell Auditorium was overcrowded with spectators wishing to "get in" and find out about this overwhelming drama production.

Soft, fluffy white snow fell on the streets of San Francisco for the first time in ten years. The frost-bitten air nipped at the bare arms, faces, and hands of the Bay Area residents. Children ran up and down the sidewalks wild with joy. Tears of happiness rolled down the red frozen cheeks of many.

Most of the Lowell student body shared the frightening experience of taking the horrifying college exams this past year. Students from Lowell as well as other high schools throughout the country make a crucial decision in their lives during their senior year--how to spend the rest of their lives. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors have all competed in a variety of different college tests within this past year.

Now Lowell lives on preparing hundreds and hundreds of students for their future struggles in the life ahead whether it be college or the world of hard labor.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

More than a year ago when answering the routine journalism final exam question--How would you change or improve the yearbook?, Ed Belale wrote, "Do not worry about the 1973 yearbook. I will work to make it the best photographic record of the year possible." He was given the job.

At one time that job would have meant calling the professional yearbook photographers (at an hourly rate) to school every time an event needed coverage, lining up team and club shots for the 'pro' to take, ordering prints from him (and waiting for them). Next, page layouts would have been drawn and shipped (one page per envelope) with photos and copy to be set in type for a faraway 'plant.' This year every picture was taken and processed by students (except the mug shots), every word of copy was typed as it appears in the book, and every page was pasted up by the staff. Result: a saving of ten dollars per page and a staff that went through the satisfying and educational experience of constructing a book, with all the decisions and problems--aesthetic and practical--involved.

Jeanette Huie and Jerry Wong kept their eyes and his camera and photographic crew on the Fall '72 semester, getting most of the reg shots out of the way and accumulating calendar facts and photo coverage of events, and then continued into Spring '73. When sales time came, Jon deGroot and Carol Kern handled almost $9000 without misplacing a penny. Linda Nanbu became assistant editor through sheer devotion--hours of pasting, typing, and section organizing (into the summer). Terry Moore, who would have been newspaper editor (baseball had priorities), put together a lively sport section--the most complete in years. Sue Magidson, with more experience than any, having worked on the book since her sophomore year, oversaw the mug shot pages--seniors and underclassmen--with help from Teresita Reyes.

Along with the senior photographers, non-staffer Martin Jeong and newspaper editor-to-be Matt Wilson spent hours in the dark room producing some of the excellent pictures for this book. Ray Ju, an extremely talented and often un-by-lined photographer, was responsible for the drama production shots, many team pictures , and a good number of the sharp candids throughout the book. Barney Wolf (the only non-student cameraman) covered cross country and track with his rich prints.

An unusual faculty section created by Denise Fahey should amuse readers and teachers, and yards of typing flowed out of the two IBM's in room 251 under the flying fingers of Lorina Lee, Mabel Fok, and any one of the staff who had time to spend.

Although the entire Lowell community cooperates with the RED & WHITE, Alice Scanlon in the main office deserves a gold patience medal for the thousands of telephone calls she handles in relation to the book, and Adele Selig, the summer overseer of mail and phones, gets a giant 'thank you' for her astute forwarding of emergency messages. All in all some twenty seniors (and a handlful of juniors) poured their energies (after dealing with academic requirements) into the 320 pages of information and activities that are this yearbook. The omissions and errors are the spots they missed, and the staff apologizes for them to the readers and to the editor, for he hoped for a perfect book.

Editor Ed Belale began with talent and desire, and he meets the final deadline with the technical knowhow of preparing for publication AND a much better understanding of human nature--having guided and questioned and goaded his staff to the levels of perfection that he sets for himself. Photos went back to the photographers to be improved in contrast or focus or composition. Copy went back to be made more complete. Photographers repeated assignments and tracked down hard-to-catch teachers until Ed was satisfied that the quality of his book (time limits considered) was as high as possible. His own contributions, besides quality control, appear in drawings, photos, general layout, special events, and songs. A year of his life has been dominated by this book, but he has the warm feeling of accomplishment. His reward will be the smile on the face of a reader, the exclamation of a senior as he looks at his section, the delight in the hearts of the many students who find their year mirrored in the 1973 RED & WHITE.

DESIDERATA

Go placidly amid the noise and haste,
and remember what peace there may be in silence.
As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons.
Speak your truth quietly and clearly;
and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant;
they too have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons,
they are vexations to the spirit.
If you compare yourself with others,
you may become vain and bitter;
for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.
Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

Keep interested in your own career, however humble;
it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.
Exercise caution in your business affairs;
for the world is full of trickery.
But let this not blind you to what virtue there is;
many persons strive for high ideals;
and everywhere life is full of heroism.

Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection.
Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disencantment it is as perenial as the grass.

Take kindly the counsel of the years,
gracefully surrendering the things of youth.
Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune.
But do not distress yourself with imaginings.
Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.
Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here.
And whether or not it is clear to you,
no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive
Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul.

With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams,
it is still a beautiful world.
Be careful. Strive to be happy.
